

WHAT IS CONTROLLED REMOTE VIEWING?

Melvin L Morse MD FAAP (www.spiritualscientific.com)

Controlled remote viewing is a scientific protocol for organizing one's thoughts into primary information from "out there" and secondary "analytic overlay" which represents the brain's own chatter and noise and effort to create its own meaning of perceptions and information. This protocol is used to draw and describe events and geographical locations which are otherwise not accessible to our ordinary senses.

On the attached pages, I give a recent example of my own effort to remote view. In the training phases, I am given a number which has previously been assigned to a geographical target or event somewhere around the world or in time. Neither I nor my wife, who assists me in the process, knows what this number corresponds to. My wife is the monitor of the process, to ensure that I stay true to the scientific nature of the protocol.

We have also found that certain stages in remote viewing, particularly the first stage, when accessing the signal line, the automatic writing stages, and the final summary stages, are associated with the mind's ability to organize a random number generator. My wife monitors a random number generator and alerts me if I have not achieved the proper mental state necessary to organize the random number generator.

Our findings can be replicated by other scientists, and frankly, have been. Russell and Targ published a paper on remote viewing in the scientific journal Nature in 1974! (see references page in at www.spiritualscientific.com for details). I can teach virtually anyone this protocol, and you can learn for yourself if remote viewing is real.

The scientific information that we have the ability to access information from "god" (in Pauline's words) or our right temporal lobe linking with quantum non locality (in my words) has been around for over 30 years. It has important implications for understanding medium-ship, energetic healing, remarkable cures from cancers and auto-immune disorders, and spiritual visions and communicating with a "god" (through prayer). These are all non-local perceptions, but the difference is that with Controlled Remote Viewing we can scientifically study the process as we are accessing information about targets that exist in this shared consensual reality.

I would like you to carefully study the attached pages so you can see the exact process of Controlled Remote Viewing. The reason we are teaching this protocol, is that once you learn to do it for yourself, you will understand it is not a fraud. I don't know of any other way to understand that point. The scientific evidence for the new paradigm has been in the literature for over 30 years, yet people are now going to have to learn to incorporate these understandings into their everyday lives before they will be "believed".

The best way to learn to remote view is to take a course from Paul Smith at rvviewer.com. However since everyone can't afford either the time or money for this sort of intense course, this is why we are giving lectures and workshops on the protocol and you can teach yourself.

SAM HARRIS! THE END OF FAITH IS ENDED!

In Sam Harris's book The End of Faith, he argues that now is the time for a scientific and rational approach to religious and spiritual issues. We agree Sam Harris. In your book, you state: "Of course, we can imagine a scenario in which we would give credence to the Pope's visions, or our own. If Jesus came saying "The Vatican Library has exactly thirty seven thousand two hundred and twenty six books; and he turned out to be right, we would then begin to feel that we were in dialogue with someone who had something to say about the way the world is".

We all have the ability to access that sort of information from "Jesus" as my wife would say, or "quantum non local consciousness through right brain activity" as I would say.

My wife and I started with a number assigned by Lyn Buchanan, also a remote viewing trainer (crviewer.com), to an event or target that I was then expected to draw and describe. Neither my wife nor I knew which event or target the number corresponded to. It could have been one of 14,000 geographical locations or events in the world. My wife assisted me in the process by guiding my thinking, monitoring my ability to effect the random number generator, and keeping me true to the scientific protocol.

Ultimately, after about 45 minutes of drawing and talking with my wife, I described the target as:

Target Summary: The target is a high speed mid air man made structure, metallic, pinging, hollow, rough, pointed, jagged, hard, and grey. It is airy, wide open, velocity, movement, surrounded by pointed jagged spiky circular elements. Braided nature, solitary in nature, overwhelming. Shuddering, endless burning, moving, whirling. High whiney noises, suspended in mid air. Analytic overlay rocket.

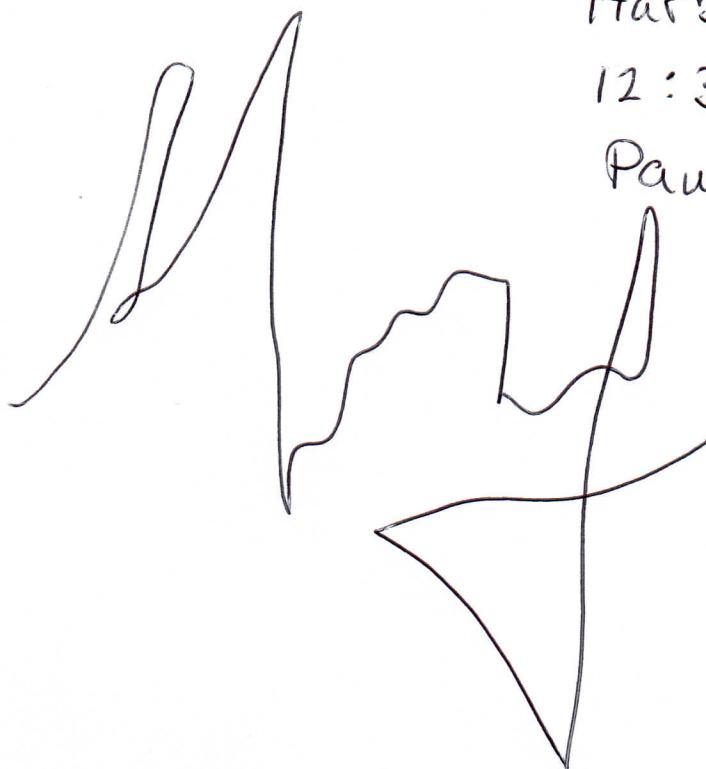

And the target was: The Apollo 11 Launch July 16th, 1969,

Sam Harris, we can restore your faith. Let us teach you this protocol.
